Big Issues Center Of War In Coming Campaign In Midwest

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO—Prohibition, enforcement, soldiers' compensation, labor unions and the Nonpartisan league are among the issues involved in state and Congressional campaigns in central western states. National records in connection with the seating of Sen. Truman H. Newberry of Michigan are being made in some states. In Iowa, the home of one of its authors, as well as in Wisconsin, the anti-Cummins railroad law has been attacked, while the Kansas Internal Revenue act is a point of controversy in Kansas. Proposed use of the Cummins strike and the Attorneys' candidates toward the Ku Klux Klan are at issue in Texas. The question of repudiation of the debt of Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin and Sen. Reed of Missouri are the crucial questions in the respective states, and are related by the fact that one charge against Sen. Reed is that he was the Senator in 1920 who refused to support a La Follette amendment.

Women are candidates for high office in several states. A summary of issues by states follows:

IOWA

A clash between Col. Smith W. McKnight, Republican nominee for governor, and conservative Republicans, is forecast at the state Republican convention August 10-12. McKnight, who has an understanding with the business community, is opposed by a group of farmers and business men. A dispatch from Paris quotes Ziegfeld as saying:

OHIO

Two candidates for governor, W. W. Campbell and W. W. Campbell, are running in the Columbus election. Both are light wines and beer. Both are dry, are claiming the Ohio Congressional delegation. A dispatch from Paris quotes Ziegfeld as saying:

MICHIGAN

Charles E. Townsend of Detroit, who supported Sen. Newberry in the latter's fight for a second term, is fighting for a second term in the United States Senate. Townsend is a contest with Gen. John D. Edwards of Lansing and John D. Edwards of Grand Haven, who are fighting for the Newberry case.

MINNESOTA

Mr. Arthur P. Brown, Democratic nominee for the United States Senate, is attacking the record of his opponent, Sen. Frank B. Rowland, in voting to support Newberry. The Farmer-Labor party, which includes adherents to the Nonpartisan league, is backing for Sen. Frank B. Rowland. A dispatch from Paris quotes Ziegfeld as saying:

DETROIT

There's no power or point on the faces of girls in Central High School's house of Victory, a student government organization. Because of faculty ban? Far from it. The girls themselves have voted it out. "You can't tell me the modern girl by telling her what to do, much less what not to do," Mrs. Jones declares. "We have long realized that at Central, and in consequence have developed student government. They tell themselves what to do and therefore do."

Billy Burke (Mrs. Flo Ziegfeld, Jr.)

NEW YORK—Billy Burke has no thought of separating from her husband, Flo Ziegfeld. She sent this telegram to friends here from New York Harbor, Me.:

"I am only too ready to deny that there is any question of separation from Mr. Ziegfeld. My only regret is that he is not here to defend himself—Billy Burke Ziegfeld."

A dispatch from Paris quotes Ziegfeld as saying:

"The matter is too ridiculous to need any comment from me. It handed both myself and my wife a laugh."

Many Held in Grip of Mad Lake Squall

Life-Saving Crew Is Taxed As Score Cry For Assistance

More than a score of persons were in danger of drowning in Lake Mendota last night, when a sudden squall lashed the waters into a violent sea of fury about 8:30, and taxed to capacity the life saving facilities at the university station.

Canoists could be heard crying for help from every quarter of the lake. Capt. Thomas Isabel, head of the life saving crew, answered calls for upwards of two hours.

He expressed his surprise that the night passed without serious mishap. The squall was one of the most sudden and furious which has ever visited the lake. Isabel was assisted by Emil and John Niebuhr, also of the life saving crew.

GLACIER PARK, Mont.—Dr. Frank B. Wynne of Indianapolis, famous mountain climber, was killed in a 300 foot fall from a cliff.

Man of Iron Is LaFollette; In Long Drive Starts For Madison After Making a Speech At Shawano, Wis.

Senator La Follette apparently is a man of iron.

After a strenuous week of campaigning, the Senator spoke to a packed house at Shawano Saturday night. He did not conclude his speech until nearly 11:00.

It would seem that for a man 67 years of age, a full day of campaigning with a night meeting lasting until 11:00 would be sufficient for one day. Not so with the Senator, however.

Immediately after his Shawano speech, the Senator gave word to the chauffeur to take him ready to start for Madison. Yesterday morning at 6 o'clock the Senator's party arrived in Madison after riding all night from Shawano.

Except for the fact that he is somewhat hoarse, the Senator stated this morning that he is in fine condition. He will confer with progressive leaders here for several days and on Thursday will resume his campaign tour by starting in the first congressional district. Ralph W. Imnell, secretary to Gov. Blaine, who accompanied the Senator on his tour, also returned yesterday morning.

State Prepares To Meet Shortage; Parley Is Called by Preus

A call for a conference here Wednesday of leading wholesale coal dealers in Wisconsin was issued by the fuel administration appointed by the governor at the request of Secretary Hoover.

The decision was made at a meeting of the administration here this morning.

Gathering of data as to the amount of coal held by the wholesalers and the best methods of distribution is expected to be discussed at the meeting here.

Definite action within a week in fixing of state coal prices and determining priority rights was promised by the administration at a preliminary meeting here this morning.

PREUS CALLS PARLEY.

(By the Associated Press.)

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Declaring that the coal situation in the northwest is more threatening than at any time previous, Gov. J. A. O. Preus today called a conference of executives of Iowa, Wisconsin and North and South Dakota to meet here Aug. 10 to discuss the fuel problem.

tributing coal is expected to be discussed at the meeting here.

The committee consisting of J. B. Borden, representing the state board of public affairs; L. E. Gettle, representing the railroad commission; Edward Nordman, representing the marketing department, and John J. Mack, state chief engineer, and several other officers were present in the conference, which lasted until noon. The fuel administration will meet again this afternoon to discuss the situation.

Work of gathering data as to the amount of coal now in the state, the amount normally used and where the chief points of consumption are located, constituted the first activities of the newly organized Wisconsin fuel administration commission.

Every detail and wholesale coal dealer, public utilities companies, creameries and factories will answer a questionnaire to be sent out this week by the commission explaining local coal situations.

The state commission will control price fixing and priority rights within the state, except in the cases of railroads, while the federal fuel administration will confine itself to fixing the prices of coal at the mine and to determining priority rights in interstate commerce, it was announced today by a member of the commission.

Boland Shot

Former Sinn Fein Envoy to U. S. Near Death In Hospital, Report

(By the Associated Press.)

BELFAST—Harry Boland, formerly representative of the Dail Eireann in the United States, is in a critical condition in a Dublin hospital, says a Dublin message today, as result of wounds received in attempting to evade capture by national army troops.

Boland and a friend were spending the week end at the Grand Hotel in Skerries. This morning at 2 o'clock troops surrounded the hotel and entered Boland's room to arrest him. In resisting arrest Boland drew a revolver and during the scuffle that followed, the message adds, he was shot in the abdomen.

Boland's companion also was arrested.

Find Belongings of Mrs. Pease; Probe Ends

With the finding of the traveling bag, clothing and jewelry of Mrs. Grace Pease, Akron, O., whose body was found in Lake Mendota, Wednesday, and information that she had been subject to heart trouble for several years, official investigation into her death had closed today.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Eau Claire, the home of the woman's parents. A short service was held Saturday afternoon at the undertaking parlors of E. N. Gunderson, with music by the Moore club, which Prof. Pease, husband of the dead woman, was a member.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the last 24 hours was 78 at 4 p. m. and the lowest was 54 at 2 a. m. Sunset at 7:21.

Low barometer in the upper Mississippi valley is accompanied by light to heavy thunder showers. Weather generally fair except in the Canadian plains where it is unsettled.

Drowning of Clarence Kocher in Monona Add New Victim to List

The drowning of Clarence Kocher, 50, 616 Willard ave., Saturday night ended a week of tragedy for Madison in which five violent deaths occurred, a girl took poison, four men narrowly escaped death in Lake Mendota, a man was severely burned in a tank car explosion and several persons were injured in minor automobile accidents.

Kocher's body was found in Lake Monona at the foot of Miller ave. in one of a pair of shoes which he left on pier was found a note addressed to his family in which he explained his suicide.

Violent deaths during the week were:

Alfred Klein, Deerfield, drowned in Lake Waubesa Monday.

Mrs. Grace Pease, whose body was found in Lake Mendota near the university women's pier Wednesday morning, and whose identity was not solved until Friday.

Virginia Roche, 4, who drowned in Lake Mendota Thursday night. Her body was found Friday morning at the foot of Hancock st.

Henry White, 9, run down by an automobile in Brittingham park. The driver, Stanley Boorman, was absolved.

Mr. Kocher was the victim of tragedy which came during the past week. Thursday night when the Roche girl was reported drowned, Henry White was run down, and Iva Chavanne, 20, was rushed to a hospital suffering from poisoning she took shortly before being found in Tenney park by motorists.

The death of Kocher brings the total of deaths in Madison lakes during the year to nine, all believed accidental with the exception of Kocher.

Officials say the number of violent deaths during the past week eclipse any other equal period of time in the history of the city, while the number of lake victims is also believed to set a record.

Poor health is the reason given by Kocher for his decision to end his life. He was not in financial straits. He was a member of the Plymouth Congregational church here and had been treasurer for several years. Surviving him are his widow, and three children, Don, 17, Esther 10, and Gladys 7.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 from Plymouth Congregational church, Rev. F. Frazier Bell officiating. The services will be in charge of Commonwealth lodge, No. 325, F. & A. M., C. E. Shaffer reading the ritual. Interment will be at Sun Prairie.

There will be a special meeting of the lodge at 1:15 tomorrow at the temple.

Mr. Kocher was a charter member of Commonwealth lodge. Mrs. A. L. Bente, Madison, is a niece, and Mr. Case, Baraboo, a nephew, of the deceased. There will be music by the Masonic quartet. Pall bearers will be Harry Barron, A. C. Fosdick, William F. Gay, R. J. Miller, A. O. Stevenson and C. C. Woody.

The past week has been more replete with sensations than any other for the past thirty years, according to Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy.

"While I have been with the department, I have never known a time when there were so many violent deaths in so short a period," said the chief. "Not only was the number large, but almost every kind was on the list."

Coroner W. E. Campbell also declared that the number of out-of-the-ordinary deaths was greater than he has ever known to occur in a week.

Boy Hit By Auto Is Better; Driver Absolved

Kenneth Shaul 4, who was injured when he was struck by the automobile driven by F. A. Moore, 317 N. Warren st., had practically recovered today. According to Mr. Moore, the boy ran in front of his home in Des Plaines, in his 30th year. A family of five sons and three daughters survive. They include Frank H. Burgess, president of the International Press and publisher of the La Crosse, Wis., Tribune.

Circus Site Changed To Washington Ave.

Ringling Bros. circus will show at Madison Square, E. Washington ave., tomorrow. The change was made in preference to the North st. location first chosen. The Winnebago or Fair Oaks cars may be taken to First st. The main tent will be at the square with horse tents and cooking tents in an adjacent lot.

Grecian Maid To Replace Flappers, Say Hairdressers

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A Grecian maiden, with classically bound hair, long draping and flowing robes and sandal-like foot wear—such will be the stylish girl who will replace the present "flapper," in the opinion of delegates attending the convention of the National Hairdressers' association. The hair dress will naturally have to fit the flowing sleeves of the straight-line frocks, which have been designed by dame fashion for the present time, declared one of the delegates, and in accordance with that edict, bobbed hair will eventually have to go.

Girl Poisoning Victim Better, Doctor Says

Investigation at Standstill As Girl Is Reported Better Today

Officials investigating the suicide attempt of Miss Iva Chavanne, 20, who took poison in Tenney park Thursday night, leaving letters and notes revealing four years of misfortune and an unrequited love for the "only man she cared" for, were at a standstill today as the girl continued to improve slightly at the General hospital.

Dist. Atty. T. G. Lewis will question the girl on happenings on the night that she took the poison, when she is in condition to talk, he said today.

"As far as I know, there is no criminal action to be taken," he stated. "But several incidents before the girl took poison ought to be explained."

Although Miss Chavanne is known to have had many friends here, the names of whom are known to officials, all are said to be of good reputations and none of them are believed to have been with her the night of the poison attempt.

Search is still being made for the mysterious "friend" who was with her on Thursday night.

The fact that the girl emitted the contents of her stomach soon after taking the poison is believed to add to her chance for life, although physicians say that it will be a week before the crisis in her condition comes.

Scores Hurt As Chicago Gas Tank Explodes

Fire And Ruin Follows Big Explosion; Cause Unknown

(By the Associated Press.)

CHICAGO—A tank 60 feet wide and 100 feet high, containing thousands of cubic feet of gas, blew up today at 23rd and Throop sts., a section inhabited mostly by laborers, injured more than a score of persons, set fire to a dozen houses, and caused many persons within an area of several blocks to be overcome by the fumes. The flames were brought under control by the fire department.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The top of the tank blew off and witnesses said that simultaneously a tremendous sheet of flames shot upwards.

A dock at the Chicago river caught fire and for some time several large lumber yards were threatened.

Within 30 minutes after the explosion five injured persons had been taken to hospitals, and dozens of others were said to be receiving attention in private homes.

Rev. Wm. Burgess, Social Reformer, Is Dead

CHICAGO—Rev. William Burgess, author, publicist and social reformer, died Sunday morning at his home in Des Plaines, in his 50th year. A family of five sons and three daughters survive. They include Frank H. Burgess, president of the International Press and publisher of the La Crosse, Wis., Tribune.

Local Strikers To Sue Roads Under Rail Act

Claim Furnishing of Food To Strike Breakers Is Violation

Legal procedure will be started by Glenn P. Turner, local attorney, against all railroads in the state who attempt to feed, clothe, and otherwise aid strike-breakers, besides paying them their regular wages, as an alleged violation of the Esch-Cummins law. Complaint will be filed with the railroad commission of the state tomorrow, Mr. Turner said. Mr. Turner has been advised to take this action by local strikers who feel that the railroads are violating the law.

The St. Paul road of this city is alleged by strikers to be feeding, clothing, and furnishing smokes and lodging, besides the regular wages, to strike-breakers. The local men claim that the railroads are violating the law in this respect inasmuch as they are paying a wage scale greater than that allowed by the Labor board.

Another charge is that the roads are hiring inexperienced men and paying them at the rate of wages paid to experienced men. The strikers maintain that the roads have not the right to pay the strike-breakers who are inexperienced, at the rate of experienced men.

This action will not only be made against the St. Paul of this city but against all roads of the state who make this same practice.

Tariff On Blankets Wins In Senate 33-24

WASHINGTON—Tariff duties on woolen blankets ranging from 20 cents per pound and 30 per cent advance per pound and 40 per cent ad valorem were approved today by the senate by 33 to 24. The Underwood law rate was 25 per cent ad valorem. The amendment of Sen. Lenroot, to reduce the protective duty by approximately 5 per cent which was pending when the senate recessed Saturday was rejected 30 to 27. Nine republicans supported it and two democrats, Broussard and Ransdell, voted against it.

Wisconsin Corporations To Pay Big U. S. Tax

MILWAUKEE—Revenue from Wisconsin corporations and industries estimated at $1,850,000 is due the international revenue department today. The revenue is derived from the capital stock and occupation taxes, both of which are due by midnight. Penalty for nonpayment is 25 per cent of the tax, but few violations are expected by officials.

Rood and Bird To Attend Big Conclave

H. W. Rood and Dr. H. R. Bird, of the G. A. R. expect to attend the all-American conclave of patriotic organizations from all over the country at Des Moines, Ia., late in September. Many other members of the G. A. R. and other patriotic organizations will also attend.

This conclave is being called because it is thought that this will be one of the last opportunities for such a gathering. Nine patriotic organizations closely affiliated with the G. A. R. will also participate.

U. S. Distributes Coal

(By the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON — The government machinery for emergency distribution of coal swung into gear today as the central committee here, with Henry B. Spencer, federal fuel distributor, as administrative head, began activities. The program devised to supply coal to the industries and localities where it is most needed and to maintain fair price levels at the mines. The central control organizations was rapidly being perfected. It was said, with the organization of an adequate staff to handle the rush of reports and orders expected to flow through Washington.

Marilynn Miller Is Wed To Jack Pickford; Movie Folk Are Guests At Ceremony

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Marilynn Miller, of the stage, became the bride of Jack Pickford of the screen on Sunday at the residence of the groom's sister, Mary Pickford, and brother-in-law, Douglas Fairbanks, at Beverly Hills, a suburb.

A brief Episcopal ceremony was performed by the Rev. Neal Dodd, rector of the church at St. Mary of the Angels, which is the "Little Church Around the Corner" to the people of the motion picture industry.

Mary Pickford acted as matron of honor.

The ceremony was witnessed by 19 invited guests and a small army of newspaper reporters and photographers and motion camera men. The official guests were members of the Pickford, Fairbanks and Miller families and Charlie Chaplin.

The bride and groom declined to say where they would pass their honeymoon.

Political Pot Is Boiling In Many States

has the endorsement of both Democrats and Farmer-Laborites.

KANSAS

The Kansas Industrial Court is under fire from the State Federation of Labor from the State Council for Progressive Political Action and from the Farmer-Labor Convention. A recent political device, the questionnaire being employed by various groups, including those of the W. C. T. U. and state officers from governor to legislator, two of the seven Republican candidates for governor and all three Democratic candidates advocate the overthrow of the Industrial court, but its friends predict that it will survive. Gov. H. J. Allen, one of its conspicuous proponents, is NOT a candidate for reelection.

ILLINOIS

The state legislature has put the bonus issue before the people in the form of a proposition calling for authority to issue $55,000,000 in state bonds to pay the soldiers' and sailors' bonus of 50 cents a day. Delay in action on the Federal bonus bill has made the state proposal something of a political issue. Chief interest in the elections to the legislature lies in whether the men elected will be supporters or opponents of Gov. Len. Small; this cleavage has furnished the platform for many candidates.

NORTH DAKOTA

Uncertainty surrounds the alignment of the Federal and state campaigns, but with a strong probability that the campaign will constitute a smashing battle between the Nonpartisan League and the Independent Voters' Association. Some assert that North Dakota has become a state without parties. Primaries to select candidates were held with a high percentage of the voting population of the state including persons formerly affiliated with Socialists and Democrats taking part in the Republican struggle.

F. W. Cathro, manager of the Bank of North Dakota under the league asserted that the only Republicans in the state were the League and Senator McCumber's faction. Senator McCumber himself was defeated for renomination by Frasier, a League candidate. The dispute, according to the Frasier, displayed opponents of the League by alleged "more or less open" affiliations with it. Republican papers favoring the Independent Voters' Association were divided regarding support of Senator McCumber.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Democrats, Republicans and the Nonpartisan League have full state tickets in the field. The League having nominated Alice Loraine Daly for governor. The League proposes a state bank like that of North Dakota and favors state ownership of various industrial institutions. The Democrats are making an unusually vigorous campaign under the leadership of L. N. Crill, candidate for governor, who is basing his plea for election on a plan for economy through consolidation and co-ordination of state offices.

NEBRASKA

Discontent with the old parties took expression here several months ago in the formation of a Progressive party which will oppose the Democrats and the Republicans in the fall campaign. R. B. Howell, of Omaha, republican national committeeman, was nominated for U. S. Senator after making his campaign as "forward looking Republican" and a supporter of what he termed progressive policies. Sen. Gilbert M. Hitchcock, a Democratic leader in the senate during the Wilson administration, was renominated by the Democrats.

TEXAS

The Ku Klux Klan is an issue in both Senatorial and gubernatorial contests for the democratic nomination. Of six candidates for the Senate, one, R. Henry, says he believes in the Klan, two are considered friendly, and two are noncommittal.

MISSOURI

The contest for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate between Sen. James A. Reed and Breckinridge Long involves the League of Nations and the policies of Woodrow Wilson, which Mr. Long, who was third assistant secretary of state in the Wilson administration, has made his platform. Mr. Wilson has sent letters into Missouri urging Sen. Reed's defeat. Sen. Reed is assuming that Mr. Long, defending alleged press censorship and the peace program of the Wilson administration. Reed also has charged that Secretary of Commerce Hoover, while Federal food administrator under Wilson, "robbed the farmers of millions of dollars" by fixing the price of wheat; this Mr. Long denies, saying the price was fixed by a commission, and that Mr. Hoover had nothing to do with it. Reed is accused by Long of party irregularity in campaigning in Wisconsin in 1920 for James Thompson, La Follette Independent candidate for U. S. Senator, instead of for Paul Reinsch, the democratic candidate. Reed maintains that he has been "the real Democrat" throughout. He has been declaring for a soldier bonus more emphatically than other candidates. Reed is an admitted wet; Long has the support of dries.

Escape Injury When Steering Wheel Breaks

Car Crashes Over Bank Throwing Occupants Into Water

Patrick O'Leary, 717 Mound st., and Raymond Haack, 786 W. Washington ave., narrowly escaped injury yesterday afternoon when the steering wheel of the car in which they were riding broke, and the car ran over the steep embankment near the fair grounds and threw its occupants into about six feet of water near the road.

The car was traveling at a moderate rate of speed when the steering wheel snapped and the driver was unable to check the car before it went over the bank.

It struck a fence and tossed the men into the water. Had it not been for the water both men might have been seriously injured. The car was not badly damaged, it is reported.

Hutton Says Blaine Tries Side Tracking

Anti-Saloon League Head Issue Statement On Governor's Attack

The Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league today through R. P. Hutton, its superintendent, challenged Gov. J. J. Blaine to state definitely whether or not he would oppose "all resolutions and other measures or moves in favor of wine and beer and the removal of the penalties against home made liquor."

In an open letter to the executive, Mr. Hutton charged that Gov. Blaine by attacking the Anti-Saloon league superintendent was attempting to draw fire from himself by pointing his finger at others.

"We wonder," the letter to the governor says, "whether your attack upon the 'Federated Church'—the Anti-Saloon League—are intended to draw attention away from your own supporters. No man can serve two masters. So long as the wet interests express satisfaction with you, the dries are clearly justified in withholding the support."

"We are calling your attention to these facts," Mr. Hutton's letter continued, "thinking that like Newberry, you may not know just who are supporting you and how; and would suggest that, while criticizing the front yards of others, you institute a still hunt in your own back yard."

The league asserted that a fund totaling millions of dollars is being raised throughout Europe and this country by liquor interests to fight prohibition in this country.

"The battle line is drawn between American prohibition and European nullification," Mr. Hutton declared. "The fight is between the American common people and the national and international combination of Big Boozie profiteers and special privileges liquor interests."

"If you are for American prohibition and against the international conspiracy to nullify the liquor laws," the league told the governor, "then we challenge you to declare, that if elected, you will use your full personal and political influence against all attempts to bring nullification to the prohibition laws."

"In short," the letter said, "we challenge you to drive Big Boozie from among your camp followers. We can forever destroy this international conspiracy by showing that on such an issue, Americans, regardless of party, creed or faction, are for American ideals."

Vesuvius Shows Its Teeth Film Folks Are Scared

Grand old Vesuvius showed its teeth when George Fitzmaurice, producer, and members of "The Man from Home" company began filming scenes of the big Paramount picture which is now showing at the Majestic theater, for three days.

During the company's stay at Sorrento, a good deal of excitement was caused one night by Vesuvius evincing symptoms of an eruption. The angry rumblings of the mountain, combined with some remarkably striking lightning effects, roused most of the company from their well-earned slumbers.

James Kirkwood is the featured player in this forceful adaptation of Booth Tarkington's famous novel.

"A Trip to Paramount Town," showing over 50 stars and directors at work on coming productions is an added feature that is very interesting.

NORMA IN NEW DRAMA

The killing of a bride on her wedding day provides just one of a score of dramatic moments in Norma Talmadge's starring vehicle, "Smilin' Through," which returned to the Grand yesterday.

Miss Talmadge plays a dual role, first as Mooneyen, and later as Kathleen, niece of Mooneyen. Mooneyen and John Carteret are being married, when Jeremiah Wayne, a rejected suitor, interrupts the ceremony with a cry of "stop," and levels a gun at Carteret. Mooneyen rushes forward to protect her affianced husband, and receives the bullet intended for him. As Carteret sees that she is dying he orders the minister to complete the ceremony.

In the ensuing years Carteret's only happiness lies in the memory of his beloved Mooneyen and the love of her niece, Kathleen, who has been left in his charge; but he becomes furious when Kathleen introduces him to young Kenneth Wayne, son of Jeremiah, as her sweetheart. The dramatic plot expands around the romance of this young couple and the part which the earlier tragedy plays in it.

The production has been filmed on a lavish scale. In the supporting cast are Wyndam Standing, Harrison Ford, Alec B. Francis, Grace Griswold, Glenn Hunter and Little Mariam Battista.

COMEDY DRAMA OF BOXING RING

Frank Mayo in "Afraid to Fight," will be seen at the Parkway tonight for the last time. It is one of the best comedy dramas of the boxing ring that has graced local screens since "The Leather Pushers." Mayo is a clean cut champion and the picture was full of interesting moments. "Hello Mars," a Century comedy. Topics of the Day, and Screen Snapshots are the other films. The organ solo is "That's How I Believe in You."

Today only in addition to the regular program, the first episode of Ruth Roland's new chapter play will be seen. "The Timber Queen" is the name of the serial and it is a thrilling story of the lumberlands. The first episode, called "The Log Jam," comes to a terrific climax on the top of a runaway box car down the side of Thunder Mountain.

Starting tomorrow the world's greatest character actor, Lon Chaney, will be the attraction in his newest and greatest triumph, "The Trap." It is a story of the Canadian northwoods. A Century comedy. "You and Me," the Pathe Review, and the organ solo are also on the program.

"POST" STORY NOW IN FILMS

"Fifty Candles," a picture based on Earl Derr Bigger's Saturday Evening Post story, is now being shown at the Strand theater.

The added attractions are a Larry Simon comedy, "School Days," the latest news weekly, and motion pictures of the Jackie Coogan contest which was held at the Strand last Wednesday.

Rules On Benefits in Teachers' Fund Law

Five years must elapse before teachers reaching the age of 50, incapacitated for further work who have paid "required deposits" into the state teachers retirement fund can claim benefits. R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, today advised R. E. Loveland, secretary of the annuity board. The new law requires that deductions must be regularly made for five years before the retirement feature in question becomes operative. Mr. Hoyt held that payments under the old law were not applicable to the new retirement system under which the five-year payments would be required.

Bulk Freight Under Ban, Is Report Today

Scarcity of Labor and Coal Cause, Is Labor Temple Report

Bulk freight in car load lots cannot be shipped over the Northwestern road here, it is alleged at Labor Temple this morning. The reason for the refusal to handle freight in large lots is due to the scarcity of coal and the lack of power on the Northwestern. Union men insist. Should this conclusion continue for any length of time it will mean that a number of freight handlers will be laid off, it is claimed by strikers.

No coal has come in over the Northwestern road here, it was stated at the union meeting. This will aid in the crippling of power on the road. The Northwestern has already had to abandon several trains.

Many of the union strikers, have found employment in other lines of work in the city until the railroad strike is over.

Union strikers believe that a crisis in the local labor condition is near at hand. The importation of strike-breakers into this city has led the strikers to seriously consider some way of fighting this method of breaking their ranks and defeating their objective.

While no violence is being considered by the strikers they feel that some action other than mere arbitration will have to be brought into play. All violence on the part of the strikers themselves is ruled out by the union in which they are united.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Federated Shop Crafts union, which is on strike in this city, will hold its third meeting next Thursday afternoon in the auditorium of Labor Temple. Wives, daughters, and mothers of the strikers are invited to attend.

Madison union iron molders will hold their bi-monthly meeting at Labor Temple Tuesday night, Aug. 2.

Paderewski Returns to Piano; Quits Politics

Widow of Capt. Jones, Veteran State Employee In Madison

After 17 years' absence, Mrs. W. W. Jones, 75, widow of Capt. W. W. Jones, former state employee in the secretary of state's office, returned last night to this city to visit Mrs. C. E. Welton, 424 N. Piney St. "I would never know the place," said Mrs. Jones in commenting on the city. "It has all changed so."

"When I left here for Washington, D. C. 17 years ago, Madison had no buildings over three stories high. Now the city's sky line has several that are nearly as high as the capitol. And the capitol itself was not completed."

"I have not been here long enough to notice any other changes," Mrs. Jones will visit in this city for two months before returning to Washington for the winter. Capt. Jones died in Washington two years ago.

"The TRAP"

A DRAMATIC and scenic wonder of a man who lost himself when fate played against him. How in his darkest hour he found himself thru the clinging fingers of a little child brings to a thundering climax as dramatic a disaster as has ever been seen at this theatre.

Can't Compel Road to Build Spur Tracks

Absence of Contract Releases Railroad, Stevens Rules Today

A railroad cannot be compelled to maintain spur tracks for shippers unless they are bound by contract to do so, Judge J. E. Ray Stevens of circuit court, ruled in an order filed today reversing the decision of the railroad commission that the Chicago & Northwestern railroad pay for the upkeep of a spur track to the plant of the Thompson Plow & Engine Co., Beloit.

The railroad brought the suit in circuit court after the commission had made the order for the maintenance of the sidetrack on Sept. 28, 1921.

Parties in the suit are given further time to file requests for additional rulings in the case before the judgment is made final.

Judge Stevens Reverses Spur Track Decree

Order By Commission In Beloit Case Overthrown In Court

A ruling by the state railroad commission, ordering the Northwestern road to rebuild an industrial spur track which it removed more than a year ago, at Beloit was reversed by Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court, according to the railroad commission today. The railroad had appealed the decision of the commission to the courts and unless the commission chooses to appeal the court's decision by Aug. 11, the railroad will not be forced to rebuild the track.

Judge Stevens held that the state railroad law does not compel railroads to build spur tracks to accommodate single industries.

Shockley

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

(Copyright by Frank H. Spearman. Published by arrangement with The Literary Digest Newspaper Syndicate.)

By Frank H. Spearman

"He's rather a bad lot, I guess," you Buck to Callahan, "but I am satisfied of one thing—you can't run that yard with a Sunday-school superintendent. He won't make any trouble unless he gets to drinking. If that happens, don't have any words with him." Buck understood three times. "Simply crawl into a cyclone cellar and wait me. Sending you eighteen loads of steel tonight, and six cars of tie. Black reports section." For Buck, the day was a day of moving into the Callahan's. Callahan sat in that part of the Benkleton depot he called the office, pulling a mucky root that went unaccountably hot in sudden flashes. He took the pipe from his mouth, leaving his foot on the table, and looked at the boy, who was fully, wondering again if there could be powder in that infernal tobacco of Buck's. The mouthpiece he eyed as a desperate man might ponder a final shift.

The pipe had originally come from Gosh's Country, with a Beautiful Amber Mouthpiece, and a Beautiful Bowl but it was a present from his sister and had been bought at a dry-goods store. Once when thinking—or if you please, when not thinking—Callahan had held a lighted match to the end of the tobacco, and in the fire that ensued they had hard work to save the depot.

Callahan never wrote his sister about it; he thought only about buying pipes at dry-goods stores, and about being, when they exploded, a thousand miles from the man who sold them. There was plenty in that to think about. When he brought his teeth reluctantly together on what was name of a rubber tube of a dismantled atomizer, he happier post-Christmas days, a toilet fixture. But Callahan had abandoned the use of bay rum after shaving. His razor had gone to the scrap and on Sunday mornings he merely ran a pair of scissors over the high joints—for Callahan was railroad—and on the front.

After losing the mouthpiece he would have been completely in the air but for little Chris Oxen. Chris was Callahan's section gang. His name was once Oxen, but that was when he made up the payroll and put it Oxen, as being better United States. I say United States because Callahan said United States in preference to English. Chris had been in America only three years; but in that time he had learned many ways of getting something for nothing. When the red-haired despatcher after the explosion cast away with bitterness the remains of the pipe, Chris picked it up and by judicious action on the atomizer figured out a new mouthpiece no worse than the original, for while the second, like the first, was of rubber, it was not of the explosive variety.

Chris presented the remodeled root to Callahan as a surprise; Callahan in a burst of gratitude, promoted him on the spot: he made little Chris foreman. It didn't bring any advance in pay—but there was the honor. To be foreman was an honor, and as little Chris was an only man on the yard force, he became, by promotion, foreman of himself.

So Callahan sat thinking of the ingenuity of Chris, reflecting on the string of construction tobacco, and studying over Buck's letter.

The yard was his worry. Not that it was much of a yard; just a dozen runs off the lead to take the construction material for Callahan to distribute, fast as the grade was pushed westward. The trouble at the Benkleton yard came from without, not from within.

The road was being pushed into the cattle country, and it was all easy till they struck Benkleton. Benkleton was just a hard knot on the Yellow Grass trail; a scally, sandy cattle town. There were some bad men in Benkleton; they didn't bother often. But there were some men in Benkleton who thought they were bad, and these were a source of constant bedeviling to the railroad men.

Southwest of the yard, where the river breaks sheer into the bottom, there lived and still lives a colony of railroad laborers, Russians. They have squatted there, burrowed into the face of the bench like sand swallows, and scraped caves out for themselves, and the name of the place is Little Russia.

This was in the troublesome days, when the cowboys, homesteaders, and the Little Russians, the head-quarters for this restless gang were at Pat Barley's place, across from the post office, it was there that the cowboys loved to congregate. To Callahan, Pat Barley's place was a way's nest; but to the Russians it was a den of wolves—and of a deeper sort than Russian wolves, for Barley's pack never slept.

The east and west section men could run away from them on hand cars; it was the yardmen who caught it, and it grew so bad they couldn't keep a switchman. About ten o'clock at night, Number Twenty-three, pulled in and they were distributing a trainload of bridge timber, a switchman's lantern would go up in signal, when pistol a bullet would knock the lamp clean out of his hand and the nerve clamp out of his head. Hearing a light in the Benkleton yard was like smoking a celluloid pipe—you never could tell when it would go off.

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Montgomery

"It is all up with me," thought Billy, as he saw Dick and the chauffeur coming toward him, "for if I take away from him now, he won't take me with him to California. Still I hate to be caught and dragged off, just when I am having such a good time. It would make me look small, too, before all these goats."

"Here you, Billy! Come here this minute!" Why didn't you come back with Jake when I sent him after you? For your disobedience I am going to tie you to the back of the taxi and you will have to travel pretty fast or else get your head jerked off."

Oh, what an indignity for Billy to be tied behind the taxi, as though he were a dog! But there was no fighting; he must submit. Then Billy's independence took possession of him. No, he would not. He would just butt the chauffeur over when he tried to put the rope around his neck, and then run back by himself the way he came. He could reach it very quickly—long before Dick could drive there, as he had to go around several blocks, while Billy could go across lots. Then Dick wanted to punish him why all right. But he would not be humiliated before these new friends.

Billy stood stockstill and waited for the chauffeur to come up to him. The man, not knowing what kind of a goat Billy was, took him for a quiet, old, tame one. So, of course, when Billy butted him, it took him so by surprise that he fell over and rolled nearly to the taxi.

"Let's go get the other boys to help," said Dick.

When the chauffeur got up, he shook his fist at both Billy and Dick. And to get even with Dick for it, he drove him over all the stones and rough places he could find on his way to the park. But Dick, who knew what he was up to, only laughed and said nothing about it, and gave him an extra quarter when he paid him, to soothe his feelings.

"Thank you, sir! Thank you, sir! Shall I wait and drive you back to the hotel, sir?"

"Yes, I believe you may, when they have succeeded in finding the other animals," said Dick. "Oh, hello, Harry! Have you found Button and Stubby?"

(Tomorrow's story will tell whether Button and Stubby were found or not.)

With The Women of Today

By Edith Moriarty

Women with no political traditions to follow and not much experience to guide them are showing some interesting methods of campaigning. They rush in and do a good job where the men fear to tread, or what is more likely, where the men never thought of treading.

Mrs. Lydia Adams-Williams, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Nevada, is showing her male opponents a new political maneuver which is original to say the least. She is following circus companies across the state and in this way finds opportunities to address large audiences.

She is going to be an instrument of the people, she says, and not an instrument of the party bosses and political machines. Her platform is based on "The Good of Nevada." "I will do whatever the people of Nevada want me to do," is her only promise.

SEEKS NAMES FOR HALL OF FAME

It is ladies' day in the halls of fame. The Woman's Universal Alliance is busily engaged in scouting out the famous feminine dead. The alliance wants to know the twenty-five greatest women of world history. Statues of them are to be erected in the Woman's Hall of Fame that the alliance is to build in New York city. This organization is also trying to find out the twenty-five greatest women of each state so that columns about the hall of fame can bear their names. These women must be dead, too. Aside from that and American woman is eligible for the list.

Islands in Big Crooked Lake Belong to State

Islands in the Big Crooked Lake in northern Wisconsin belong to the state of Wisconsin until declared to be property of private owners by a court of competent jurisdiction. J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, informed the state conservation commission today.

The owner of property on the Big Crooked Lake claimed that his property meant around the islands in such a way that they were considered his property, and for that reason had not been surveyed by the U. S. Government.

SUNSHINE PELLETS

BY DR. W. F. THOMPSON

The question of cancer has the knife for an answer.

If you would seek a cure in haste, don't lose time with cancer paste.

A scaly patch on the end of your nose may not be as innocent as you suppose.

A lump in the breast may be a cancer nest. Delay is not only dangerous but invariably disastrous.

Every tumor or indolent ulcer should be suspected of being a cancer, until proven innocent by those competent in diagnosis.

A sore on the lip, which does not yield to ordinary remedies, may be syphilis or cancer. Procrastination in either case, is serious.

After forty years of age, cancer causes one death in every eight among women; one in thirteen among men.

The vast majority of patients with cancer seek surgical interference once too late for cure. Early discovery—early recovery.

Unreasonable prejudice against the judicious use of the knife for the early removal of cancer is partly responsible for the high cancer death rate.

Radium and the X-Ray are valuable adjuncts to the surgical treatment of cancer; but early and complete removal by surgical procedure offers the only hope, and the earlier the removal the greater the hope.

Cancer is not a communicable disease, and there is no direct proof that it can be inherited. The cause of cancer is yet unknown.

Two Detours in Wisconsin Made Shorter

Weekly Badger Highway Report Is Issued in Milwaukee

(By the Associated Press)

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The shortening up of two important detours and the promising of the opening up of several new concrete stretches within the next few weeks was a feature of the road information from various headquarters this week, the Milwaukee Journal's tour department reports.

The first important break in the 26 miles of detour on highway 15, will come July 29, when some four miles is to be taken off north of Slinger.

The new concrete is now laid to Addison, thus cutting down a bad stretch across the marsh and allowing traffic to travel entirely on county trunk roads. Three miles of the eight mile stretch south of Theresa has been opened also. It is expected that this work will be finished about Aug. 15.

The detour on 15 south of Oshkosh has been shortened one and one-half miles. The rest of the three mile stretch will be completed within the next two weeks.

Three of six and one-half miles of concrete on the Oshkosh-Omro road has been laid.

Highway 50 west of Kenosha is now open to 116, cutting off several miles.

Concrete has been poured on the North Cape road, county trunk C, and will be open to the public within three weeks at which time there will be practically an all concrete road between Milwaukee and Burlington.

Heavy traffic on highway 107 from Waterloo to Columbus has made that routing inadvisable. The detour on 29 is now rated as being in good condition between Hustisford and Columbus.

Highway 57 still continues to hold the bulk of traffic to the northward but is beginning to show signs of deterioration.

Highway 61 has been opened for three more miles south of Prospect and detour 61 has been taken off of county trunk A from the city to Waukesha county trunk F.

NEW YORK—The explosion of a 100 gallon still caused eight policemen who had just confiscated it, to be severely burned.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

YOUNG WIFE WORRIES.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I was married last April and already I have my problems. My husband is very careless. He never puts things back where he finds them. I have spoken of this to him many times, but it does no good. He calls me his partner and yet he never tells me anything that happens to him or his friends. He tells his folks and friends and they tell me. When I ask him why he didn't tell me he always says, "I never thought anything about it." Then if I say anything more about it he gets angry and goes uptown.

I love my husband dearly and he says he loves me, but he always gets angry with me when we talk of his faults and then we quarrel.

BROWN EYES.

When a man is careless by nature it is very difficult to teach him to be orderly. By nagging you might be able to get him to put away his belongings, but you would make his life miserable and he would hate you for it. Stop to consider how much time it would take each day to put away his things and then decide whether it is worth your while to worry so much about that fault. It might be far more satisfactory to say nothing and let him enjoy home in his own way.

It is difficult to tell you how to encourage your husband to talk to you as he does to his family and friends. It should mean something to you that he says you and he are partners, because it shows he really wants to be. Perhaps you do not spend enough time with him. Often a wife works around the house in the evening, doing dishes, ironing, etc., when she might spend her time with her husband if she wants his confidence. After dinner and his evening paper a husband is usually in a mood to talk and unless his wife is with him to hear what he has to say he tells other people. You say that when you and your husband talk of his faults he gets angry. That is only natural, but cause the greatest task is needed when correcting faults. Do you enjoy it when your husband talks of your faults? Or doesn't he do it? If you stopped to think you might feel that you had faults, too, that your husband would criticize if he wanted to.

ASKED FOR DATE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of sixteen and have been asked for many accepted ones. One reason is because I do not know how to act with boys, and I have not been allowed in the company of boys before. Please tell me how I should accept a date and how to act. THE BEGINNER.

You can't tell any one how to act, because circumstances must decide that. When a boy asks if he may come to see you, tell him that he may if you want him to. Or if he asks you to go somewhere and you can go, thank him and tell him you will be very glad to go. Even if you do not act just as you are asked, what is the great danger? Originality is a true virtue. Of course you know that certain things are ladylike and certain things are rough and with that as a foundation you need not worry about the way you act when with boys.

WOULD BE CORRECT

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My fiancée has a sister who is two years older than I am. I have never met her, but we have and I have not been allowed to see her with me. Do you think it would be correct to invite her or would she think I was running after her brother? BETROTHED.

It would be perfectly all right to invite the sister to visit you. Since you are engaged she would not think that you were running after her brother.

The Story of An Unloved Wife As Told to Grace Phelps

SARAH ANN MEETS THE GRANTS.

The campus and college buildings were gay with sweet young things who had come to see sweethearts or brothers graduate but no girl there could outshine Sarah Ann.

Neel's shining eyes looked both his pride in her and his love. Looking at him I wondered why I had ever doubted that his love was the real thing. As for Sarah Ann, she was in the seventh heaven of delight.

Clever child that she was, she managed Jimmie Vanderveer in such a way that, although he could not help feeling that Neel was head over heels in love with her, still he could not feel that she was slighting him. It was more than likely that she had written Neel previously and given him warning for he behaved very circumspectly indeed, except on those few occasions when he had Sarah Ann to himself, or when I was with them.

I did not count, of course! Neel's father and mother had come up for a day or two and it was inevitable that we should meet them. They were in fact, staying at the same hotel, though we did not know that until later. Neel and Sarah Ann had decided she should meet them just as any other girl he knew would be introduced.

Afterwards, when he had had a chance to sound them out he would arrange a little party just for the sake of us, including Jimmie of course.

"That is, if we can get rid of Ethel," he said meditatively.

"Ethel? Who is Ethel?" Sarah Ann pounced on him.

Neel looked uncomfortable.

"O, a girl I've known all my life. The mater's always throwing her at my head. Ethel Ramsay," he added as Sarah Ann insisted on knowing her full name. "She came up with them in the car." There was a full stop. Sarah Ann looked at Neel and he looked at me and then back at Sarah Ann. "I didn't have anything to do with it," he protested. "They sprung her on me, just the way they always do."

"O, said Sarah Ann very softly and I said so too."

We met at a reception late that afternoon—the president's reception. I think it was, but with so many festivities crowding on top of one another we were all rather confused. We met by accident. Mr. and Mrs. Grant were standing together, looking over the crowd as if they were expecting to see Neel as doubtless they were, when I saw them. I had seen them at a distance before, Mrs. Grant, tall, gray haired, sweet faced and gracious and Cornelius, Sr., a gruff looking man of middle age, his hair thinning at the top but with no sign of any diminution of the mental powers underneath. A rather terrifying sort of person, I thought.

"O, there you are," Neel exclaimed. "Mother—Dr. Grant is Miss Russell!" He did not need to make any qualifying statement, his tone was enough to give away his secret.

"And Mrs. Graham," he added suddenly remembering me.

Mrs. Grant smiled and held out her hand, attracted by Sarah Ann's sweetness at once. Cornelius Sr. regarded her less cordially, and there was instant suspicion in his face and confirmation too, as he had found what he sought.

Before he could speak however there was a soft rustle of silk as Neel's side and a stunning looking girl who I needed no sixth sense to tell me was Ethel, laid a hand on his arm, ignoring our presence entirely.

Food and Shopping Tests

By MRS. HARLAND H. ALLEN

On Losing Things When Shopping.

Does it seem conceivable that you have an almost comical weakness for losing some of your belongings when you shop? This is a real misfortune for not only does such a habit represent a real economic loss, and so has a direct bearing on the family finances, but often the articles themselves have a sentimental value for which money cannot compensate.

Whatever the cause of the trouble, whether carelessness, fatigue, or lack of pockets, you can do much to lessen the likelihood of these losses occurring.

The manager of the lost and found department of a big store says that only a few of the many articles picked up are turned in every day are marked. Consequently the offer can do nothing toward returning them.

Pocketbooks and bags, of course, should always be marked plainly with the owner's name and address inside—a piece of tape sewed in, or a small key tag fastened securely to the lining. An easier way, but not so dependable, is to carry one of your cards in the pocket.

It is always difficult to keep track of several packages of different size. The simplest thing to do is to ask the clerk to tie them all together securely whenever you add a new package to your collection. Another plan is to write your name and address on every bundle as soon as you receive it.

Then there is the difficulty of carrying a number of bundles at once. For this one of the many kinds of shopping bags is indispensable. When you go into a rest room, keep a watchful eye on your purchases. And never take off your rings in a public washroom to wash your hands.

Purses should never be tucked carelessly under the arm, nor laid on the counter while examining a purchase. They should be worn with a strong cord that will permit of opening wide for comfort while in a warm store. Always make sure you have closed your bag or purse securely. To walk about in a throng of shoppers with your purse half open on your wrist is simply to invite pickpockets.

And finally, a wise shopper will make a list of her errands, check them off as they are accomplished, and carefully count her bundles and her change after each purchase.

Six of the feminine players booked to star in the tourney. Left to right, above: Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, Miss Helen Wills and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein. Below: Miss Mary K. Browne, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy and Miss Eleanor Goss.

The banner event of the year for the feminine tennis contingent in the U. S., to be staged the week of August 14, ought to furnish some spectacular tennis and perhaps several interesting surprises. This meet is the women's national tennis championship tourney. For one thing, it is believed that the playing of Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory in this tourney will answer the query of critics as to whether her game has slumped. Her defeat at the hands of Miss Suzanne Lenglen in England a few weeks ago caused many critics to believe that she is slipping. The play of Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, who won national and British honors fifteen and sixteen years ago, and of Miss Helen Wills, national girl champion, will be watched with interest also.

Golfers come from Madison every day, and declare the greens to be superior to those at Maple Bluff. Madison's most exclusive course. Twenty caddies are kept busy carrying bags for the players. Sunday, July 2, was a record day for attendance. Seventy-eight transient tickets were sold in addition to the members, season passes, and weekly tickets. It is estimated by Manager E. Leitzinger that over 125 golfers were on the grounds during the day.

Ripley Golf Course Is Pride of Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Wis.—One of the principal attractions of Lake Ripley, and a feature which is attracting national attention to Cambridge is the golf course at the Lake Ripley Country club. Few people realize that Cambridge has golf links superior to many located in the large cities of the state, yet many golf enthusiasts from Madison and Milwaukee declare that the greens here are equal to any in either of those cities.

Cambridge is a leader among the small towns in promoting and keeping up a golf course. The Lake Ripley Country club was organized in 1915, and every year since has seen an increase in the popularity and number of golfers who have taken advantage of the facilities offered.

Dr. G. E. Bistad is president of the club, which is organized as a stock company with sixty shares.

H. A. Cowles of Cedar Lodge is vice-president, A. K. Amundson secretary-treasurer, and P. C. Westphal and O. H. Hanson directors.

Membership is limited to sixty, and at present there are over fifty members.

Rates for transient players are very low in proportion to the scale charged in other cities. A season ticket at Lake Ripley can be purchased for $20 while the rate at Maple Bluff, Madison, is $65. The ground fee is $1 for men and 75c for ladies, while the weekly ticket costs $4 for men and $3 for ladies.

A club house provides locker accommodations for forty men and from ten to fifteen women. Next year it is planned to provide shower baths. It is possible to purchase golf clubs, balls and other equipment, as well as cigars, soft drinks, and candy from the manager, and groundkeeper, Ed. Leitzinger.

News of the Markets

Report for July 31, 1922

Big Receipts Cause Drop In Wheat Prices

CHICAGO—Big receipts here together with a sharp decline in Liverpool quotations had a bearish effect on the wheat market during the early dealings. The receipts here were estimated at as much as 1,025 carloads. Prospects of settlement of the rail strike were regarded also in some quarters as a contributing bearish influence, but opinion on this subject was divided. The opening which varied from 1 cent to 2 1/2 cents lower with Sept. 108 1/4, 108 1/2, and Dec. 108 1/2 to 109, was followed by a slight further decline.

Subsequently, hedging sales said to be the heaviest so far this season led to a sharp further set back in price. There was also a decided increase of the United States visible supply total. The market closed unsettled, at a net decline of 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents, the latter for July with Sept. 105 1/2 to 105 1/2 and Dec. 107 1/2 to 107 1/2.

CORN—Expectations of a bearish crop report on corn tended to weaken the corn market and also the oats market. After opening 1/2 cent to 3/4 cents lower, September 61 1/2 to 62 cents, the corn market continued to sag.

Shipping demand slowed up, and speculators pressed the selling as a result of the weakness of wheat. Corn finished unsettled 1/2 to 1 1/2 net lower, with Sept. 64 1/2 to 65 1/2 and Dec. 64 1/2 to 65 1/2.

OATS—Oats started 1/4 to 3/4 to 1/2 cents off Sept. 34 cents, and later underwent a further set back.

PROVISIONS—Provisions went down with grain notwithstanding higher quotations on hogs.

CHICAGO DAIRY
CHICAGO—Butter, unsettled; creamery extras 22 1/2; standard 22 1/2; seconds 22 1/2; firsts 22 1/2; eggs, unchanged; receipts 16,425 cases; firsts 20 to 20 1/2; ordinary firsts, 18 to 18 1/2; miscellaneous 18 to 19 1/2; storage packed extras 21 1/2 to 22; storage packed firsts 21 to 21 1/2; poultry, alive, unsettled; fowls 16 to 21 1/2; broilers 22 to 23; roosters 15 1/2.

Stock Market Firm Due To Strike Report

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK—Favorable week end developments in the coal and rail strike situation imparted a strong tone to opening prices on the New York stock exchange today. Advances ranged from large fractions to more than three points. Crucible, which shot up 3 1/2 points to a new high for the year, was the individual feature. Substantial gains were also recorded by Studebaker, Mexican Petroleum, American Tobacco and Lucif. Gas. Dupont, which dropped 1 1/2 points, was one of the few exceptions to the general upward trend.

Check in All Unused Seats For Reunion

Block Captains to Send In Tickets to A. C. By Tuesday

"All unused seats for the Red Arrow field day, now in the hands of block captains in the business district, must be checked in by Tuesday, said H. J. Loftsgordon, chairman of the finance committee. "We are running short of west side tickets in the headquarters office, in the Cantwell building, and must have a supply to take care of mail orders constantly being received. It is quite likely that a number of places will be designated where tickets may be secured for local people who have not secured their required number. This step will be taken in order that these tickets may be called in as needed to fill out-of-town orders. "The response from all over the state is wonderful. The interest being taken by motor car owners, who plan to motor to Madison on Aug. 28 and see the events, is gratifying to the finance committee. We planned to carry the entire expense of the big reunion through the sale of tickets at $2 each for a show worth twice that amount, and we feel confident that we shall be successful."

STOUGHTON Lake Kegonsa.

Floyd Carter, Stoughton carpenter, has just finished a modern cottage for George Atkinson at Crystal Springs park. Mr. Atkinson's home is in Iowa, and the family have been annual visitors at Kegonsa, in what was formerly known as Atkinson park. His father, William Atkinson, resides in Stoughton.

Rev. R. H. Jones, pastor of the First Methodist church, Stoughton, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lemke of Waupaca, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Benson of Chicago are occupants of the Richards' cottage. During the pastor's absence, Rev. A. W. Sneehey of the First Congregational church, will preach at the Methodist church. Mr. Sneehey came home from the summer school at the state university for the purpose.

Mrs. W. D. Miller spent the week end with her daughter, Mrs. Popanz and family at Evansville. Atty. Clarence Erickson arrived Saturday from Racine to visit Stoughton relatives. John Kern, electrician from Madison, was a caller Saturday with E. I. Flugrum. Mrs. Torger Holt and a party of friends from Iowa motored yesterday to Fort Atkinson and various other points of interest. Elmer Thorson of Edgerton is a visitor this week with Melvin Lu-raas, S. Fifth st.

225 House of Correction Prisoners On "Strike"

MILWAUKEE—A second strike, with 225 prisoners refusing to work, began at the house of correction here today. The prisoners who struck two weeks ago for new potatoes instead of old, issued an ultimatum yesterday demanding the freedom of the cell house and other privileges.

OKLAHOMA
Mayor J. C. Wolton, mayor of Oklahoma City, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor on a platform adopted by the Farmer-Labor Reconstruction league and assailed by opposing groups as nonpartisan league doctrine. The platform indorses public ownership of public utilities and the Plumb plan for management of railroads.

INDIANA
The democrats have pledged "home rule in tax levies," that is, the amendment of the state tax law to place authority for making certain levies with local taxing units. They accuse the Republican state administration of mismanagement in the handling of state funds, the abuse of the depository law and the misapplication of the state board of accounts law. The thirteen Democratic candidates for Congress include a woman, Miss Esther Kathleen O'Keefe in the thirteenth district.

Ringling's Has Near Perfect Artists' Model

Miss Ena Claren

Are you a Venus? Got out your tape-measure, ladies, and compare yourselves with Miss Ena Claren of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus. Miss Claren is one of a score of young women who, in company with snow-white dogs and horses, present statutory numbers in the main-tent program. She is from Holland, the daughter of a Dutch sculptor, and is famed throughout Europe for her beautiful form. Miss Claren's father has frequently used her for his model.

Miss Claren blames ungainly figures upon laziness. "Don't be lazy, mentally or physically, and don't sleep too much," is her advice. "If you are lazy mentally, it follows naturally that you are lazy physically and visa versa. Too much sleep produces mental and physical torpidity."

The circus will exhibit here next Tuesday.

New Cigarette Will Be Sold, Is Announcement

"Fifteen better cigarettes for 10 cents," is the inducement offered to smokers by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., in introducing Polo cigarettes in this city. Realizing that it is a true indication of "old times" to be able again to push a quality cigarette in a dime package, the manufacturers have adopted a lively new slogan for the present advertising campaign. "That's more like it" is the caption which accompanies the photographic cartoons of Polo smokers.

1200 Attend 50th Synod Anniversary

Dane And Columbia Counties Send Big Delegations

More than 1,200 people attended the 50th anniversary celebration of the organization of the Norwegian Synodical conference at Monona park auditorium yesterday. The conference is the largest general Lutheran body in this country. People attended yesterday from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but the greater part from Dane and Columbia counties. The forenoon service was in charge of the local pastor, Rev. Holden M. Olsen, who chanted the altar service. The sermon was preached by Rev. C. Gausewitz, president of the Synodical Conference. The music was furnished by the Folling's Orchestra of Story City, Ia., with Miss Margaret Anderson at the piano. The choral union choir sang an anthem. A large offering was brought for the colored mission in the South. The weather in the morning was rather threatening, but the sun came out so the crowd in the afternoon was even larger than the forenoon. There were over one hundred voices in the choir, which was directed by Rev. Anderson of Minneapolis. The soloist was Miss Evelyn Christopherson, soprano, of Chicago. Instrumental music was furnished by the Folling's Orchestra, the Wheeler School Trio and Miss Margaret Anderson, pianist. Rev. Anderson sang the solo part in "The Great White Host" and Rev. Gausewitz, Chicago, addressed the audience during an intermission. Monday morning was opened with prayer by Rev. E. Hansen. In addition to the 23.00 it was announced that $250.00 more had been presented to the Synod at this meeting. Committee reports were heard and considered this forenoon. The afternoon will be taken up with election and further consideration of committee reports.

Woman Cripple at Prayer Is Burned To Death

MILWAUKEE—A helpless cripple, Mrs. Ellen Toner, 72, was burned fatally yesterday when her night gown caught fire from the flying head of a match, before her screams aroused others in the rooming house where she lived. She was a devout Catholic. Intending to pray before going to sleep again, she scratched a match to light a prayer candle. The head of the match flew off and flared up, setting fire to her night gown. Mrs. Toner died after being removed to a hospital.

Russ Relief Work To Continue Three Months

WASHINGTON—American relief work in Soviet Russia will continue for three or four months at least, Secretary of War Clegg announced today upon his return from New York where he met yesterday with Col. Haskell, head of the American Relief association for Russia. The major problems now in Soviet Russia since the famine has been broken, Mr. Hoover said, is a medical one.

Stevens Will Hear Drainage Reports Soon

Koshkonong Commissioners Ask Levy of $1,500 During 1922-23

Reports of the Middleton and the Koshkonong-Mud Creek drainage district will be heard by Judge E. Ray Stevens on Aug. 14, according to an order filed with Herbert F. Hanson, clerk of the Circuit court, today. Commissioners for the Middleton district state that they have disbursed $3,535 during the past year and intend to carry the entire expense of the year ending June 30 for repairs and upkeep. They recommend a levy of seven-tenths of one cent on the district for incidentals during the coming year. Bonds totalling $2,500 have been retired during the past year, according to the report of the Koshkonong-Mud Creek district. There are now no outstanding bonds. Disbursements for the year ending June 30 have been $3,508. A levy of $1,500 is recommended.
